Guy Named Guy Kills Carson; Dow Keeps NSCo. Losing Streak Going

The Class "A" league-leading Carson Merchants came a cropper Monday night when they ran up against a determined Midland Rubber squad plus a guy named Guy, who pitched a tight 7 hitter, tripled home the tying run for Midland in the sixth inning, and then scored the winning one.

The Guy's first name is Dick—Midland's pitcher, who came through in the clutch when his team was trailing 2-1 in the last of the sixth. Here's how it went:

Ray Armani opened the inning by striking out Jerry Jacobson singled, and up came Guy. He smashed a screaming triple down the left field line, then scored on an error by Carson third baseman Bob Costa, to wrap up the ball game.

Carson's right fielder, Bill Starr, doubled after one was out in the seventh, but was stranded. Merchant hurler Tony Monzo limited Midland to five hits, but got the loss anyhow.

In another Monday Class "A" fray, Dow Chemical humbled hapless National Supply 7 to 0, and the National's record remains unblemished—they have not won a game yet.

MOOSELOSE AGAIN, 2ND PLACE HELD

The Moose slo-pitch softball team was keeping apace with the hapless N.Y. Yankees Tuesday night when they lost their seventh out of eight games, this time to the Optimists 7-3.

Although the Moose surged into an early 3-0 lead, the Optimists whittled it down gradually, and at the end of the regulation 7 innings, the score was tied, 3-3. In their half of the eighth the Optimists, aided by Frankie Dominguez' long home run, scored 4 runs to wrap it up.

The Rotary Club tightened their hold on second place in the slo-pitch league by jumping on the third place Hollywood Riviera Sportsmen 6-2, also in a Tuesday night game.

The complexion of this hasle also changed drastically in the last inning. Hollywood Riviera held a slim 2-1 lead going into the seventh, then the Rotary Club rared up to score 5 runs and end it all.

Bill Chaddock Repeats as Top Alondra Golfer

Bill Chaddock just keeps rollin' along like Ole Man River. The Pepperdine College student has started his fourth straight year of ruling the Alondra Park CC golf club.

He renewed his claim to the throne with a 2 and 1 victory over Manny Cabral, who was also last year's runner-up. Chaddock ran true to form as one of the finest competitors who plays just as hard as needed to win. He was trailing until he made the turn of the afternoon round when he picked up his two winning holes after having been three down much of the time.

Eugene Brunstetter won the championship consolation flight with a convincing 6 and 5 win over Carlton Faulk.

Hal Blake, one of the Southland's top junior golfers, scored the most decisive victory of the final rounds when he swamped George Alston 11 and 9 to take the "A" flight title.

Jack Brauning took the "B" flight championship with a 4 and 3 win over Jess Lillywhite.

The "C" flight crown rests on George Winsler's head, who triumphed in a 38-hole battle with William Wergin.

George Howard turned up as the "D" flight champion following a 1-up win over Burr Beardsley.
